Statement of significant changes to primary wholesale charges 2025/26

In accordance with the Wholesale Charging Rules issued by the Water Services Regulation Authority (Ofwat) under sections 66E and 117I of the Water Industry Act 1991, this notice is to update stakeholders on any proposed significant changes to our primary wholesale charges for 2025/26.

Wholesale charges, as defined by Ofwat in the Wholesale Charging Rules, relate to the charges water and sewerage undertakers can impose on retailers for wholesale water and wastewater services.

We do not intend to change the structure of our standard charges or the methodology for calculating primary wholesale charges currently. We continue to prefer to provide stability and consistency for our end customers and retailers.

Trade Effluent (TE) Charges

We are reviewing the structure of our published TE charges with a view to incorporating a standard ammonia charge. The intention is that the charge will apply to new large industrial discharges and to our Special Agreements when current contracts end, where effluent has an ammonia content which breaches the threshold set by NWL. We therefore do not consider handling strategies are required for this change at this stage.

Simplification and standardisation of wholesale tariffs

We have actively participated in the Retailer Wholesaler Group project on simplification and standardisation of wholesale tariffs. A volumetric threshold at 0.5MI and simplified and harmonised bands for fixed meter charges were incorporated in 2024/25 tariffs. The group has also proposed introducing common volumetric bandings. It is expected that these changes will not be introduced until 2026/27.

Raw Water

Raw water volumes have stabilised after a period of decline but the charges still need to be increased to ensure recovery of the fixed costs of the raw water system.

Vacant premises

We have the highest vacancy rate in the non-household market. As part of our vacant property management strategy we have previously created an exercisable option to charge for consumption recorded at vacant non-household premises. We have not yet exercised this option to charge but we continue to reserve the right to consult on this matter in the future.
